Charles McGrayel, Manager of Thomas Clothing Company, Dies Early Today of Pneumonia.

ACTIVE IN PUBLIC MOVEMENTS

Took Prominent Part in Patriotic Work—Vice-President of the Chamber of Commerce.

Charles McGrayel, aged thirty-seven years, manager of the Thomas Clothing Company, North Chestnut street, and prominent in business and civic movements, died at his home, corner Laurel and Walnut streets, at 3:15 o'clock this morning following an illness of several days with pneumonia. His condition became critical Sunday and little hope was extended for his recovery after the crisis was reached late in the evening. His many friends here were shocked to hear of his death as it was not generally known that his condition was critical. He was taken ill February 1 and was confined to his home during last week. He made a brave fight for life, although he expressed the fear to his close friends that his illness was of too serious a character for him to recover.

Mr. McGrayel became identified with the business interests in this city in September 1917, when he came here from Lebanon to take the management of the Thomas Clothing Company, following the enlistment of John B. Thomas, one of the owners, in the United States army. Sergeant Thomas is now with the American Army of the Occupation in Germany. During the seventeen months he had lived here he made many friends and demonstrated that he was a successful and energetic business man.

Mr. Grayel devoted his life to the mercantile business. He was connected with a clothing and furnishing store at Greensburg for a number of years and later went to Michigan City where he managed a large store. Afterwards he went to Lebanon where he was engaged in business a number of years and came here from that place.

He was a public spirited citizen and it was his desire to see Seymour grow and prosper. He was instrumental in the organization of the Chamber of Commerce a few weeks ago and was elected vice-president of that organization. He was one of the leaders and active workers in all the war agencies which were created here and was president of the War Savings Society of his district. He worked earnestly in all of these endeavors and was rewarded by the splendid showing which the district made in each drive.

Mr. McGrayel was at Nashville, Ind., September 9, 1881, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James McGrayel. He is survived by his widow, who lives here, his mother, of Nashville, who was at his bedside when the end came, and one brother, J. A. McGrayel, of Morgantown.

The funeral will be conducted at Nashville Wednesday. The party will leave here about 8 o'clock Wednesday morning making the trip overland.

McKeand to Speak.

A. W. McKeand, director of the extension department of the Indiana chamber of commerce, will come here from Indianapolis Thursday night and will deliver an address at the meeting of the Seymour chamber of commerce. A large attendance at the meeting is expected as Mr. McKeand is well versed in the work which has been undertaken by the local organization.

BOY SCOUTS HONOR THE MEMORY OF ROOSEVELT

Newspaper Clippings Read to Show High Esteem in Which He Was Held by Public.

The four patrols of Troop 1 Seymour Boy Scouts, met at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening in observation of the nationwide Roosevelt Memorial services, Health Sunday and the Ninth Anniversary of the Boy Scout organization. The church was filled with the regular church members, Scouts and parents of the Scouts.

Newspaper clippings containing the many fine things American men and women have written about Col. Theodore Roosevelt were read by Rev. J. H. More, pastor of the Presbyterian church and local scoutmaster. Also, editorials written on the boy scout movement by Col. Roosevelt, honorary vice-president of the Scouts of America, were read. Harry McDonald, assistant scoutmaster, was called upon for an address and his response dealt with the organization and promulgation of the scout movement. He told how a certain English officer by the name of Powell realizing that the standard of physical fitness in men was decreasing, organized in England the first troop of Scouts, the purpose was to utilize the "big out doors" on producing strong bodied men. The movement was carried to America where it was met with great enthusiasm.

The Scouts participated in the program by marching into the church in regular formation and repeating the Scout oath. Following that they sang Col. Roosevelt's favorite song, "How Firm a Foundation."

Rev. More made a very beautiful and interesting address on the pleasure he had received from his participation in the movement. He explained the Health Sunday observance as a national order in recognition of the basic facts of true purpose in the original Scout organization.

He clearly showed that his work as that of other scout masters was to create from the American boys big men—men big, physically, mentally, morally and spiritually.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Sorrow Over the Death of Charles M. McGrayel, Vice-President, Formally Expressed.

A special meeting of the directors of the Seymour Chamber of Commerce was called this afternoon to take formal action relative to the death of Charles M. McGrayel, vice-president of the organization. H. S. Prophet was appointed as a representative of the organization to accompany the body to Bloomington Wednesday for burial. A floral design was also ordered.

The following resolutions were adopted:

"The hand of The Master, however, it be in wisdom and love has this day taught us the uncertainty of each passing hour of human life, and the certainty of His power in the untimely passing of Charles M. McGrayel, our friend, neighbor, business associates and officer of the Seymour Chamber of Commerce. Therefore:

"That God in His wisdom has removed from our association this friend and neighbor in the person of Charles M. McGrayel and that we deeply feel this loss to the city of Seymour and the community at large:

"Now we desire to take the most kindly way to give public expression to our sorrow.

"So, we have met to write this little chaplet in honor and respect to him and we hereby tender a copy of these resolutions to his family, to each of the newspapers and direct that a copy be made a part of the minutes of this special session of the board of directors of the Seymour Chamber of Commerce.

A veritable city of dugouts and bombproof shelters in the center of the Argonne forest from which the Hun made their defense. ## TRIBUTE PAID TO ROOSEVELT'S WORK

The Rev. Charles W. Whitman Extols Former President, Diplomat, Citizen and Soldier.

INFLUENCE ON AMERICAN LIFE

Minister Emphasizes Services of Theodore Roosevelt for Patriotic Advancement of Nation.

A beautiful tribute to the life and work of Theodore Roosevelt was paid by the Rev. Charles W. Whitman, pastor of the First M. E. church, Sunday night, when he delivered a special sermon at a Roosevelt memorial service. He touched upon Roosevelt's life and his influence on the American public. He spoke of Roosevelt as a Christian, as a patriot, a diplomat, soldier and plain American citizen.

The minister stated that it has been 120 years since the congress of the United States met in special session to honor the memory of a private citizen. The one other exception was that of George Washington. Special services in honor of Theodore Roosevelt were held in the national house of representatives Sunday afternoon.

"If any man lived a strenuous life, it was Theodore Roosevelt," declared the speaker. "As a versatile mind he stands without a peer in American history. His learning reached out into every avenue of human knowledge. He was a soldier and a patriot; a scholar and a diplomat; a world traveler and a

SYRIAN MAKES APPEAL TO PUBLIC FOR RELIEF

Sergeant Wade Ead Explains Terrible Conditions in Syria in An Address Here.

Sgt. Wade Ead, working in the interest of the Syrian and Armenian relief association spoke to a moderately large assembly of Seymour people at the Majestic opera house Sunday afternoon. Sgt. Ead is a native Syrian, he has been in service with the U. S. forces for more than a year. Since being mustered out of the service Sgt. Ead has been touring the country, speaking in behalf of the association. Only three years ago he came to this country and it is as only natural that he could give very vivid pictures of the lamentable condition of his people.

The Armenian-Syrian relief campaign is under the supervision of the United War Work campaign of which L. C. Griffiths is the Jackson county chairman. Of the money pledged to the U. W. W. $3,500 is to be used as the Jackson county quota for the relief fund.

No offering was collected as reported. Sgt. Ead will speak at various points in the county before leaving Seymour. His work carries him into practically all the colleges of Indiana. He has already delivered his lecture to the students of Indiana University at Bloomington and will probably visit Purdue soon.

TO TAKE STEPS TO PREVENT SPREAD OF BOLSHIEVISM

Stringent Provisions Embodied in Bill Introduced by Representative Noll in the House.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, February 10.—That the legislature will take some steps to prevent the spread of Bolshevism in Indiana, was indicated today when several of the leading members of both houses advocated passage of bills carrying stringent provisions against bolshevism. Representative J. Frank Noll, had a bill prepared which would provide severe punishment for anyone who advocates anarchy, overthrow of the government abrogation of the constitutional means of maintenance of law and order, for display of a red flag or other symbols of anarchy or advocating or practicing sabotage. The bill provides that on first conviction a fine up to $10,000 and a sentence of from two to fourteen years in the penitentiary and for a second offense the penitentiary sentence may be increased to 25 years.

SUFFRAGE KILLED BY VOTE IN SENATE

For Fourth Time That Body Refuses to Submit Constitutional Amendment to States.

MILITANTS GET THE BLAME

Defeat Means Resolution Will Have to Wait a Long Time—Leaders Determined.

By United Press.

Washington, February 10.—For the fourth time the United States senate today defeated the resolution to submit a woman's suffrage constitution amendment to the states. The vote was fifty-five for suffrage and twenty-nine against it. But as the ayes did not have two-thirds of the vote cast they were defeated.

Thirty-one Republicans voted for the measure and ten against it, while twenty-four Democrats voted in the affirmative and nineteen in the negative.

Senators Watson and New of Indiana voted in favor of the resolution.

The vote proved a bitter disappointment to the suffragists who had counted on President Wilson and other Democratic leaders to swing the southern Democrats into line. None of those on whom the suffragists pinned their hopes voted for suffrage.

Today's defeat practically means that the nation wide suffrage amendment for women must wait for a long time. It will be impossible to get another vote at this session, even if there was any chance of converting the south which again blocked suffrage.

Next session the resolution will have to be put through the house again and this may prove rather difficult because of the many new members.

Suffrage leaders said immediately after the vote that they will prepare to renew their campaign at the next session. They also are determined, they declared, to make the Democratic party accept full responsibility for today's defeat.

Members of the Woman's Suffrage party bitterly condemned the Washington militants, blaming their tactics for the refusal of some democrats to change their votes.

NON INTERVENTION POLICY IN RUSSIA

This Decision is the Outcome of Anglo-American Representation Made to France.

ARCHANGEL IS FROZEN IN

Understanding Will Be Reached Soon, It is Expected, Relative to Cessation of Hostilities.

By United Press.

Paris February 10.—The associated powers are expected within a few days to proclaim the principle of non-intervention in Russia, military and politically, it was learned from a reliable source today. They will carry out their intention to withdraw troops now on Russian territory. This is the outcome of the Anglo-American representation made to France ten days ago.

Advices from northern Russia indicate it will be impossible to get boats to Archangel for several weeks, as that port is tightly frozen in. The allies do not desire to withdraw their forces from Murmansk while their troops are still on the Archangel front, as that would leave the latter exposed to an attack from the west.

Before the joint conference convenes, it is believed that an understanding may be reached by the soviet government and the associated powers regarding cessation of hostilities.

Before the joint conference at Prinkipos, it is believed that an understanding may be reached by the soviet government and the associated powers regarding cessation of hostilities since this would be acceptable under the circumstances to both sides.

Sergius Sazanoff, once the czar's premier, received American correspondents at the Russian embassy here. He explained the hopes of the anti-Bolshevik elements he represents to obtain a volunteer army from the present allied forces in France for the purpose of occupying Kieff, Odessa, Alexandrieff and similar strategic points, and acting as guardians during the process of forming an anti-soviet government in their rear. Sazanoff said 150,000 troops would be sufficient.

While the constitution of the league of nations has been provisionally completed, the committee which prepared the draft will continue in session to take up possible amendments and additions before submission to the general peace conference this week, it was announced today. The committee today ordered the draft reprinted so it will be in perfect shape for President Wilson to read to the conference.

FOREIGN DISTURBERS ARE READY FOR DEPORTATION

Trouble Makers Sent Elsewhere For Disturbances They Created in U. S.

By United Press.

Chicago, February 10.—Two heavily guarded carloads of foreign disturbers were enroute to an Atlantic point today for deportation. The men were largely from coast cities where they have been held for various periods awaiting ocean transportation.

In the party were many Russians and a few enemy-alien. All were alleged to be radicals and trouble makers.

A. D. H. Jackson, head of the Seattle, Washington, office of the immigration department was in charge of the party. His passengers, he said, were permitted to wave red flags and sing foreign songs all they desired.

MAY ATTEMPT TO USE SPARTACANS AS WEAPON

German Cabinet Declares That It Will Not Consent to Severe Peace Terms.

By United Press.
Weimar, February 10.—The German government may attempt to use the Spartacans as a weapon to force the allies into making terms of peace settlement less severe, according to reports today.

Government officials declare they will refuse to sign the treaty of the provisions are severe. They intimate that the government would resign turning the country over to the radical elements, which they believe would immediately create a chaotic condition.

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Miss Kelly Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Newark, N. J.—“For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter.”—Miss FLO KELLY, 476 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

PROPOSES SALARY FOR PROSECUTORS

Bill Introduced in Legislature Would Change Method of Compensating These Officials.

FEES WOULD GO TO COUNTY

Measure Provides That $2,000 Would Be Paid by State and Remaining $1,500 by the County.

A measure introduced in the Indiana senate which is of interest here would change the manner of compensation prosecuting attorneys and would place them on a straight annual salary of $3,500 a year. The measure would not apply to Marion and Lake counties nor to Vanderburg and St. Joseph counties which are covered by special statutory provisions.

Under the present law prosecuting attorneys receive $500 a year from the state as salary and the balance of their remuneration comes from fees. They are allowed $5 for each misdemeanor and $10 for each felony where a conviction is secured and $7 in felonies where the defendants plead guilty. There are many objections to the present system which has been in use for many years. Frequently the prosecutor represents the state in a criminal case where the defendant pays hundreds of dollars for his attorneys' services. In case the prosecutor fails to get a conviction he receives no pay for his services and if a conviction is secured he draws $10.

Under the proposed law the payment of the $3,500 salary would be divided between the state and the county. The state would pay $2,000 a year towards the salary and the county would pay $1,500. In case of a judicial circuit, such as Jackson and Lawrence, the county salary would be divided according to the population of each unit. In this district Lawrence county would pay more than Jackson because of the larger population.

The county would collect the fees instead of the prosecutor, the proposed law provides. It is expected that the fees would reimburse the county treasury for what is paid out as salary to the official. One reason for the change in the law, it is understood, is that there are fewer number of cases than formerly and as a result the office does not pay as much as it did a few years ago. It is recognized, however, that an able and competent attorney must be engaged as prosecutor and attorneys of this kind could not be obtained if they were required to take the office at a low salary.

PETITION FOR RATE BOOST DISMISSED

Interstate Public Service Company Withdraws Request for Increase in Schedule.

50 PERCENT. FOR POWER ASKED

Company Also Requested 25 Percent Increase in Rate for Electric Lighting Service.

Official notice has been given by the Indiana public service commission that the petition recently filed by the Interstate Public Service Company asking for the right to make a temporary surcharge of twenty-five per cent. in its present rates for lighting and fifty per cent. in power rates, has been dismissed without prejudice. The petition was filed by the company on September 27, the reason or the advance being given as the increase cost of coal and other operating expenses. About the time the petition was filed the Commercial Club filed a petition with the commission asking that relief be given from the insufficient service that was rendered here. The company then served notice that it would not press its demands at that time.

The local company also filed a petition recently for an increase or temporary surcharge for gas service in this city, but this petition also was dismissed at the request of the company.

The official notice of the dismissal of the petition asking a surcharge for electric service is given out by Carl H. Mote, secretary as follows:

"On the 27th day of September, 1918, the Interstate Public Service Company," an Indiana corporation, filed its petition with the Public Service Commission of Indiana, asking a temporary surcharge of twenty-five (25) per cent. in its present rates for all lighting service, including municipal lighting, also a temporary surcharge or an increase of fifty (50) per cent. in its present rate for all heating and power services. Such increase to remain in effect as long as conditions continue approximately as at present.

"On the 21st day of January, 1919, petitioner filed an instrument in writing, asking that the above entitled cause be dismissed without prejudice.

"It is therefore ordered by the Public Service Commission of Indiana, that the petition in the above entitled cause be dismissed without prejudice."

plain American citizen. He was at home in the courts of Europe quite as much as in the walks of American life. Roosevelt's learning was so thorough and comprehensive that any problem or question brought to him for solution found a ready answer. So thoroughly versed was Roosevelt in a general knowledge and trend of his time that when he came to the presidency he at once inaugurated movements and reforms that were colossal. Among his great achievements stands the Panama canal. His bringing together of Russia and Japan to arbitrate their war difficulties, the creation and enforcement of laws for pure food and pure drugs, the creation of sentiment and the enactment of laws to make fertile the arid plains of the west, the creation of a new individual and social relationship concerning the corporations and the state and his almost super-human skill in the selection of big men for big tasks are proof of his marvelous genius to meet the conditions and needs of his generation.

"One of the important services rendered by Roosevelt was his exemplification of individual integrity and high ideals. Not only did he live and preach this truth in his private life, but he constantly emphasized this fact as a basic element for human society and the welfare of the state. Indeed, his severest critics must praise Roosevelt for his integrity in his personal living, his high ideals of character, his thorough sense of right and wrong and his constant emphasis that no nation can rise above the level of the character of its individual life. For generations to come Roosevelt will stand out and be remembered as one of the very finest of exemplifications of Christian manhood that the modern world has produced.

"Doubtless the most marked element in the life and work of Theodore Roosevelt was manifest in his spirit of patriotism. He was unquestionably America's finest type of what the patriot should be. At the outbreak of the great world war, Roosevelt began preaching strenuously the doctrine of national preparations. He saw the storm coming. He appealed to the nation by spoken word, through the press and by example that it prepare to do its work in the impending conflict. For the last two years the most earnest advocate and supporter that the administration had for national defense and for American victory was none other than the ex-president. Just a few hours before his death Roosevelt dictated a message to be thrown on the screens of the movies in New York City in which he pleaded that America should in the hour of her victory not fail to do her duty at home and abroad but to rightfully take her place in world affairs. Roosevelt lived as he preached. It was his joy to have sent four sons and one son-in-law to the western front. His disappointment in not being able to go to the western front with American sons was doubtless, as intense as though he had been defeated for the presidency of the Republic. It was to him a rare joy to exhibit the five service stars that he wore on his breast.

Only Neolin Soles could endure a test like this. That they do so is because of the tough durability built into them by a scientific process. To cut your shoe bills down, buy shoes with these long-wearing soles. They come in many styles for men, women, and children.

"For generations to come Theodore Roosevelt will be the one outstanding figure of all that is highest and best in patriotic American citizenship.

The speaker closed his address by saying, "It will be many generations before we shall again see the likeness of Theodore Roosevelt upon the stage of American life and world achievement."

A large audience heard the eloquent and impressive address. The choir rendered special music and beautiful selections were given by Zieckler's orchestra. At the morning service the pastor made an appeal for $600 to complete the improvements at the church. He asked that the entire amount be subscribed within twelve minutes or at the rate of $50 a minute. At the expiration of ten minutes it was found that $700 had been pledged. The minister announced that a canvass would be made of absent members so that the fund would be sufficient to meet all the improvement expense, including the exterior painting of the church. Seven members were enrolled by the church at the morning service, making forty-four additions since Christmas.

After the "Flu"—Fever or Cold

Clean the Acidity and Toxic Poisons Out of the Digestive Tract

Millions are now suffering from the after effects of the deadly "flu," a fever or a cold. Their appetites are poor; they are weak, and they are waiting for their strength to come back. If these people could only realize that the return to health and strength would be greatly helped by giving attention to the stomach—that is, removing the acidity and toxic poisons from the entire digestive tract, making it act naturally, so that the body will receive the full strength of the food eaten—a great deal of suffering would be saved to humanity.

Everyone knows that the disease itself, and the strong medicines that have been taken, upset the stomach, leave it hot and feverish, the mouth dry, the tongue coated, a nasty taste, and no desire to eat. This is a poor foundation to build new strength on.

Now, tens of thousands of people all over this country are using EATONIC for the purpose of cleaning these poisonous after-effects right out of the system and they are obtaining wonderful results—so wonderful that the amazingly quick benefits are hardly believable, just as shown in the remarkable letter which is published upon the request of this sturdy old Civil War veteran. He is 77 years old. Read what he says EATONIC did for him:

"I am an old soldier, past seventy-seven years. I had the Spanish influenza and it left my stomach in an awful shape. I tried three different doctors but got no relief. As a last resort I sent and got a box of EATONIC and to my greatest surprise the very first tablet I took helped me. I can now eat anything I want, and feel fine."

Yours thankfully,
Fowler, Indiana
Dec. 4, 1918

P. S.: If you can make any use of this letter for suffering humanity, you are at liberty to do so. C.E.M.

This is only one case out of thousands. You should make the EATONIC test in your own case at once. You have everything to gain—not a penny can you lose, for we take all the risk. Your own common sense, your own feelings, tell you that a good appetite, good digestion, a good stomach, with the fever poisons and effects of strong medicines out of your system, will put you on the road to strong, robust health again.

You want to enjoy life again after you have battled with the "flu," fever or colds, or any other illness that has taken your strength. You want to get back your old-time vigor, be full of pep and enthusiasm—be able to work with ease, instead of listlessly, half-heartedly dragging out a mere existence.

Be sure to take a box of EATONIC home with you today. We cannot urge this too strongly. If EATONIC fails to give you positive beneficial results, it will not cost you a penny. There is no risk—the benefit is surely all for you.

"DEMOCRACY OF GOSPEL AND DEMOCRACY OF HUMANITY"

Ideals of Government Set Out in Sermon by the Rev. F. M. Ovelton of A. M. E. Church.

At the A. M. E. church Sunday evening Rev. F. M. Ovelton, the pastor, spoke on, "The Democracy of the Gospel and the Democracy of Human Government." His text was "Go ye into all the world and preach this gospel to every creature."

The speaker said that "in every human being there was an infinitesimal part of the Divine Being and that through disobedience this Divine presence had been dishonored and heaven's justice affronted. That Jesus Christ came to earth to make an atonement; this made He sent out harbingers to tell the glad story, not to Jews alone, nor a separate story to any class, clan or nation, but to all the world and to every creature. Worship, praise and thanks to God are the special rights of this Democracy; guaranteed under authority of the King of Kings, its author."

Mr. Ovelton said that in human government certain principles and ideals but in administration men were slow to make these ideals a living reality. "All Americans believe that a government of the people, for the people and by the people should not perish from the earth, but in their respective administrations, all the people sometimes, many of the people most of the time are ignored and sometimes scorned. What human government lacks is this true Spirit of Democracy and this can only be found in the Gospel of Jesus Christ," he said. "No man or set of men however learned in law, however profound in reason however experienced in government, can practice the golden rule—the basis of democracy—without the spirit of that Democracy to actuate them. The world needs more of the gospel of Christ. We need to preach it more. More people need to hear and accept it. More of it needs to be practiced. When we give more attention to the gospel, we will need to give less to legislation."

NO EXTENSION FOR FILING RETURNS

Initial Payments of Income Taxes
Must Be Made on or Before
March 15.

REVENUE BILL NOT PASSED

Commissioner Daniel C. Roper Says
Requirements Must Be Met
Without Delay.

Many local people who will be required to file income tax blanks this year have made inquiry as to where any extension of time beyond March 15 will be given in view of the delay of the congress in passing the revenue bill. Daniel C. Roper, commissioner of internal revenue answers these inquiries by declaring that no general extension of time beyond March 15 will be granted. This means that persons who must file returns will have to act quickly as soon as the forms are published. Blanks are not yet available and probably will not be until after congress has enacted the law. Unmarried persons having an income last year of $1,000 or more and married people whose income was $2,000 or more, are required to file blanks.

Peter J. Kruger, internal revenue collector for Indiana, has issued the following statement:

That there will be no general extension of time beyond March 15th. for the filing of returns and for the payment of Income and Excess Profits taxes due on that date, is the decision of Daniel C. Roper, commissioner of internal revenue. The announcement was made today by Collector Peter J. Kruger immediately following the approval by the senate and house of the report of the conferees on the new revenue bill.

"It is necessary to get the initial tax payments in by March 15," says Commissioner Roper. "No other course is possible. Some months ago, the treasury issued certificates of indebtedness to an amount approximating $800,000,000, maturing March 15th. The first payment of the income and excess profits taxes for 1918 was planned for that date, to meet this huge obligation.

"The American people have proven that there is no emergency too great to be met and solved by co-operation. This present situation is another emergency which can be overcome by co-operative effort. The bureau extends its every force toward this end, and I am relying upon the people to meet the situation wholeheartedly.

"The internal revenue bureau must carry out the program prescribed in the new law which requires all returns for 1918 to be filed on or before March 15, 1919, and requires the first quarterly payment of the entire payment to be made on or before that date.

"Every taxpayer who can possibly do so is urged to make full payment of his income tax on or before March 15. The quarterly payment method is intended for taxpayers whose financing of the tax at one time would tend to upset local financial conditions.

"The approval of the report of the conferees by the senate and house of representatives brings the new revenue bill to the point where it may be said to be law. The international revenue bureau has been making preparations to collect the taxes which it provides, and is now putting all of its efforts into aiding taxpayers to fulfill the obligations imposed.

"The bureau has arranged to send an advisory force of several thousands of deputies and agents to assist taxpayers. These officers will be stationed at convenient points where they may be consulted without charge. Taxpayers should take the initiative and get in touch with these revenue men for any needed advice and assistance in preparing returns.

"The forms for the tax returns are being printed and all forms will be in the hands of collectors between February 15 and March 1."

Actress Grew Too Fat!

A remarkable lawsuit has recently been decided in favor of a moving picture actress who sued her employers for $75,000 for breaking a contract. The young woman declared that she was engaged for $500 a week and was discharged because her employers said she had gained in weight! They had stipulated that she was to weigh no more than 110 pounds, and claimed that her weight rose to 126. She denied this acquisition of "too, too solid flesh," and several witnesses upheld her. The court awarded her $16,000. Evidently all admiration for the "tragedy queen," the majestic woman who once resoundingly trod the boards, has vanished from the souls of the movie fans as interpreted by the film companies.

Maine lumbermen prefer to use steam log haulers now on long roads. The average load hauled by two horses is generally less than 3,000 feet, board measure. #### SEYMOUR CONCERT BAND IS PREPARING FOR BUSY SEASON

Plans Being Made for Series of Concerts at Shields Park During Summer.

The Seymour Concert Band, under the management of Adolph Steinwedel, is preparing for a busy season when the first days of spring appear. The band when first organized consisted of forty-one members. The call to service and other reasons have cut the membership down to eighteen pieces. Returned soldiers, including the former trombone soloist, Chester Miller, are going back to the band and with the coming of the warm weather the customary evening concerts, including the Sunday afternoon concerts in the City Park will begin. A campaign of the business houses will be made this spring and sums solicited on such manner will go to defray expenses and recompense the bandmen. It is said that the band members have never received sufficient financial applause from the city to make the work of evening concerts appealing from a pecuniary standpoint and while many cities much smaller than Seymour have specified certain sums for the maintenance of a band the local players feel that they are not being treated as a municipal musical organization should be treated.

For a number of months the leadership of the band has been in the hands of Alfred Brand, cornetist. He and Mr. Steinwedel have recently selected some new concert pieces which will be played during the summer entertainments. Many citizens of Seymour are expressing the desire that the band be fully organized for work this summer. Part of a town's rating is based on the quality of its band, it is pointed out, and for this reason as much as because of the immediate benefit of local entertainments it has become the public desire to create and maintain a good band in Seymour.

IN AN UNUSUAL UNIFORM

It is probable that among the thousands of men in uniform you have seen on the city streets you have never seen one wearing this particular uniform. This man belongs to the most exclusive branch of Uncle Sam's fighting forces—he is one of the regular naval gunners who manned the big 14-inch naval guns which helped smash the German lines on the western front. There were only 500 men, all picked from the regular navy ranks, in this service. Their uniform is similar to that of a marine except for the insignias, which are those of the navy. Many of the 500 have returned to this country and are now at the naval barracks in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Couldn't "See" France.

"How do you like this country, George?" asked an officer of a coal-black southern plantation dandy, whom he found working on a road in the rural part of France.

"Thisyer's no country for a nigger, cap'n," replied the toiler in olive drab. "I been here eight months and I ain't even seen a rabbit. Is you?"

Then George went back to his shovel muttering curses against a land in which one couldn't even find a rabbit.

Another dandy was asked whether he was glad the armistice had been signed.

"You bet I is," he exclaimed. "I wants to get back to Geo'ga soon's I kin. All I seen over here is rain and kill-o-metts."

GETS ONLY $112 PER WEEK

Downtrodden Calf Skinner Obligated to Toil Diligently for 56 Hours for Stipend.

Chicago, Ill.—Consider the poor, downtrodden calf skinner—likewise the equally poor and equally downtrodden boner of chuck. The calf skinner, diligently plying his trade at the Chicago stock yards, and the boner of chuck—by diligently wielding a wicked cleaver at the same place—can earn but a mere trifle of—but here are the official figures:

Carl Meyer, attorney for the packers at the recent wage hearing before Judge Alschuler, produced pay vouchers showing the calf skinner received for 56 hours' work $112, while the chuck boner received $74 for a 62-hour week.

Of interest to the general public was the prediction of Meyer that as demobilization continues large quantities of food released by the government for civilian consumption will bring the present peak prices for food tumbling down to within the reach of the man less fortunate than the poor, downtrodden calf skinner and the boner of chuck.

Who Does the Buying For Your Family?

There is someone in your family who has a big responsibility.

Food to buy for the table; clothes for the children and grown-ups; new household utensils, linen, furniture, books and all the hundred and one little things for which the family income is spent.

In most families, one person does the bulk of the buying. And it is that person's job to see that that the money is well spent—that you all get full value for every cent that goes out.

The success of a family depends on wise buying just as the success of a business does.

Wise buying means intelligent buying. It is necessary to have knowledge of goods and stores.

The best way to get this knowledge is by reading advertisements. They tell you what is new and good. They tell you where and when to buy to advantage.

Not only the person who does the buying but every member of the family should read advertisements. It is the duty of all the others to help the one who does the buying by pointing out advertisements of new goods and giving all the information possible as to tastes and styles and values.

Advertisements are published for your benefit. Make use of them by reading them.

MARINE SERVICE DRAWS ARMY MEN

Seek Places on the New Merchant Ships.

OFFERS FINE OPPORTUNITIES

Discharged Soldiers Have Had Taste of Seeing the World and Want More of It—War Experiences and War Unrest Lead Young Americans to Seek Broader Fields Than Satisfied Them Before.

Lure of the seven seas is drawing many of the young men recently discharged from the army, as well as others who had war jobs in industrial plants and are now idle, into the merchant marine.

For Skin Tortures

Don't worry about eczema or other skin troubles. You can have a clear, healthy skin by using Zemo, obtained at any drug store for 35c, or extra large bottle at $1.00.

Zemo generally removes pimples, blackheads, blotches, eczema and ringworm and makes the skin clear and healthy. Zemo is a clean, penetrating, antiseptic liquid, neither sticky nor greasy and stains nothing. It is easily applied and costs a mere trifle for each application. It is always dependable.

The E. W. Rose Co., Cleveland, O.

War experiences and war unrest seem to have led many young Americans to seek broader fields than satisfied them before the war. They have had a taste of the world, and want more of it.

This change in the tastes of the country's youth has been of timely advantage to the United States shipping board, which is looking for thousands of young men to serve on the new merchant ships built by the government as a result of the war.

Ships of the new cargo fleets owned by the nation are being launched at the rate of two a day. Each vessel requires a crew of not less than fifty men, and the shipping board aims to make these crews as nearly as possible all-American.

To secure the men it needs for the merchant service, the shipping board began establishing its own recruiting offices in large cities after the war ended—when the average recruiting office went out of business.

Its office for the middle West was opened at 35 South Dearborn street, Chicago, in the heart of the downtown section. Young men flocked to it as soon as it was open. The office is in charge of Dr. Oliver J. Lee, director of a free school in navigation that the shipping board has maintained at Chicago since early in the war, for training deck officers.

Chance to See World.

"We offer the young man no longer satisfied with his former outlook in the world a chance to see distant countries," said Doctor Lee. "We plan to give the young sailor who enters the new merchant marine plenty of chance to improve his opportunities. His voyages will be varied, so that he may see the greatest number of countries in the shortest possible time.

When he has learned the business of seagoing, he will be trained as an officer, if he shows the right qualifications. Young men suited for commercial life will then be encouraged to enter exporting or importing houses, at home or abroad, for a commercial career, for which a knowledge of seagoing and of different countries is a firm foundation."

The young men signed on for sea service at the shipping board's Chicago office are sent to Boston under escort, at government expense. At the old New England seaport they are placed on ships of the United States shipping board's Atlantic training squadron for two months' special instruction as sailors, firemen, cooks or stewards. While taking this training they are paid $30 a month, and have free board and quarters. They rate as apprentices, and wear a distinctive blue uniform.

On completing the training period, the young mariners are shipped out in the crews of deep-sea vessels, at wages varying from $55 a month for ordinary seamen to $75 a month for firemen. They agree to remain in the merchant service at least a year.

May Seek Promotion.

At the end of the year the young men will be counted as experienced American seamen. They will be expected to seek promotion, and at the end of two years they will be qualified to study at a shipping board school for officers, which gives technical instruction in navigation or marine engineering. The engineering courses are given at the best technical colleges.

In addition to maintaining recruiting stations in the large cities, like New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, New Orleans, San Francisco and Seattle, the shipping board, by arrangement with the war department, has placed a representative at each of the army cantonments where soldiers are being discharged, to give the men information about the merchant marine.

RUSS RUBLE WORTH 12 CENTS

Currency Values Fixed by British Authorities to Aid Archangel Government.

London.—Northern Russia's new ruble currency, that is, the currency arranged by the British government to assist the Archangel provisional government in stabilizing finances, has a fixed rate of exchange of 40 rubles to one pound. That places the ruble at 6 pence, roughly 12 cents in American money.

Exchange on the old rubles, both those issued under the imperial government and the Kerensky government, has been extremely unstable throughout the bolshevik regime in all parts of Russia.

The distribution of money is uneven. Money famines are constantly appearing in many sections, regardless of the fact that all money presses are kept going day and night.

Optimism Nets $500.

Mrs. J. H. Steiner's optimism and faith in General Pershing and his Yanks has won for her $500. While the Germans seemed on the verge of winning the war she went among her neighbors in Pittsburgh cheering them up, saying that the enemy would be beaten before the snow began to fall. When her statements were questioned she promptly offered to wager $500, which was as promptly taken up. She collected.

British Airman Has One of Most Remarkable Experiences of World War.

WAS OUT ON A LONE HUNT

Destroys Four Hun Machines, Disables Six, Suffers Three Crippling Wounds and Brings Back Machine in Repairable Condition.

American Press Headquarters, British Front.—The war over, a great many accounts of individual bravery will be heard for the first time, but none will excel this extraordinary tale of a British flying major, now recovering in a hospital.

The major, in a fast, single-seater scout, was out over the lines on a lone hunt. Discovering an enemy two-seater machine at 21,000 feet over the forest of Mormal, the major began climbing sharply to overtake him, got under his tail, fired at point-blank range and saw the two-seater break in pieces and fall, one occupant diving out in a parachute.

While watching the two-seater crash, the major suddenly heard bullets snapping and hissing about him. Under him was a Fokker biplane. Before he could make a turn he was wounded in the thigh, the shock stunning him for a moment so that his machine fell in an aimless spin.

Surrounded by Foes.

When he had recovered control he found himself surrounded by 15 Fokkers in attack formation. He drove at the nearest and the two were at once jockeying for favorable positions in terrific maneuvers that carried them through the other 14. Chance shots during these evolutions sent down two of the major's adversaries, and then at ten yards he "got on the tail" of the first Fokker, probably the squadron leader, and shot him down in flames.

Then the major was wounded a second time, this bullet shattering the bone of his left thigh. In a dead faint, with his engine running at top speed, the Britisher fell in wild sweeping circles, until he once again regained his senses and was able to pilot his scout.

But the major was again set upon by another squadron of 15 Fokkers.

He charged straight at the machine ahead of him, firing at the same time. The Fokker burst into smoke and fell. Then the other Germans, now centered fire on him, riddling his machine and shattering his left elbow so that the arm hung useless. Unconscious again, when he came to he believed his left arm to have been shot away, as it was flapping behind him.

Again he was attacked by another squadron. Smoke came from his machine and he believed himself on fire. He used all his strength to try for a collision once more, and was still able to fire feebly. His success was repeated. A Fokker went down in flames at three yards range.

Makes Dive for Safety.

As he was now too dizzy to see, he dived to within a few thousand feet of the ground, just over the lines, his engine going "full out," so that it is a miracle his machine stood the strain, and again he was attacked, this time by eight enemy scouts.

The terrible descent seemed to brace him. British observers saw him go through the most amazing spins, spirals, zooms and all the tricks of the British scout fighter. In a 12-minute engagement he drove down two Germans out of control, broke free of the others and came home skimming trees and trenches. He probably will pull through.

In less than an hour the major had engaged fifty to sixty enemies, destroying four, disabling four to six, suffered three crippling wounds and brought back his machine in repairable condition.

FACED FIRING SQUAD TWICE

Yankee Lieutenant, Captured by the Huns, Still Lives to Tell the Tale.

Bellefonte, Pa.—Lieut. E. R. Taylor of Bellefonte was stood twice before German firing squads and he lives to tell the tale, according to a letter received by his wife. Taylor was captured by the Boche, he writes. They did not like him and he was subject to numerous indignities. They singled him out as one from whom they likely could secure military information. Failing to learn anything from him of value they made him face a firing squad twice. He dared them to shoot on both occasions, but the order to fire was never given.

Uses Electrical Device to Get Chicken Thief

The first night it was set out Bauer's electrical trap landed the intruder. Owners of coops in the vicinity have called on Bauer to make their coops burglar-proof.

WEAKNESS REMAINS LONG AFTER

Influenza

Reports Show That Strength, Energy and Ambition Return Very Slowly to Grippe Patients.

After an attack of influenza, doctors advise that nature be assisted in its building-up process by the use of a good tonic—one that will not only put strength and endurance into the body, but will also help to build up and strengthen the run-down cells of the brain.

One of the most highly recommended remedies to put energy into both body and brain is Bio-feren—your physician knows the formula—it is printed below.

There's iron in Bio-feren—the kind of iron that makes red blood corpuscles and creates vigor. There is lecithin also; probably the best brain invigorator known to science. Then there is good old reliable gentian, that brings back your lagging appetite.

There are other ingredients that help to promote good health, as you can see by reading this formula, not forgetting kolo, that great agent that puts the power of endurance into weak people.

Taken altogether Bio-feren is a splendid active tonic that will greatly help any weak, run-down person to regain normal strength, energy, ambition and endurance.

Bio-feren is sold by all reliable druggists and is inexpensive. For weakness after influenza patients are advised to take two tablets after each meal and one at bed time—seven a day, until health, strength and vigor are fully restored.

It will not fail to help you and if for any reason you are dissatisfied with results your druggist is authorized to return your money upon request—without any red tape of any kind.

Note to physicians: There is no secret about the formula of Bio-feren. It is printed on every package. Here it is: Lecithin; Calcium Glycero-phosphate; Iron Peptonate; Manganese Peptonate; Ext. Nux. Vomica; Powdered Gentian; Phenolphthalein; Oleoresin Capsicum. Kolo.

Lunatic Turns Robber.

Arrested for attempting to rob L. F. Huntley's summer home, Waukegan, Ill., Joseph Oprans was found to be an escaped inmate of the Dunning Insane asylum. He had donned wearing apparel belonging to the Huntleys and was comfortably partaking of choice viands in the kitchen when taken into custody.

Change in Favors.

According to manufacturers of favors and novelties for social affairs and other similar purposes, the demand seems to be for those along patriotic lines. With the recent change of events, however, it is thought that the call will be for more staple articles.

Round Neckline.

It seems that the round semidecollete neckline is the favored one for the winter's dressy blouses. For tailored blouses, the high turnover collar of lace or material like the blouse and worn with a dark tie or ribbon, is the best style.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Rainbow's End

..A NOVEL..

BY REX BEACH

Author of
"The Iron Trail," "The Spoilers"
"Heart of the Sunset," etc.

Copyright, by Harper and Brothers

Nothing but a heap of stones and plaster remained of the Varona home. The grounds, once beautiful even when neglected as in Donna Isabel's time, were now a scene of total desolation. A few orange trees, to be sure, remained standing, and although they were cool and green to look at, they carried no fruit and the odor of their blooms was a trial and a mockery to the hungry visitor. The evidences of Cueto's vandalism affected O'Reilly deeply; they brought him memories more painful than he had anticipated. Although the place was well-nigh unrecognizable, nevertheless it cried aloud of Rosa, and the unhappy lover could barely control the emotions it awakened. It was indeed a morbid impulse which had brought him thither, but now that he was here he could not leave. Unconsciously his feet turned toward the ancient quarry which had formed the sunken garden—his and Rosa's trysting place.

O'Reilly desired above all things to be alone at this moment, and so he was annoyed to discover that another person was before him—a woman, evidently some miserable pacifico like himself. She, too, appeared to be looking for roots, and he almost stumbled over her as he brushed through the guava bushes fringing the depression.

His sudden appearance alarmed the creature and she struggled, panic-stricken, out of his path. Her rage could not conceal the fact that she was deformed, that her back was crooked, so he muttered a reassuring word to her.

This place was more as he had left it—there was the stone bench where he had said good-by to Rosa; yonder was the well—

"Senor!" Johnnie heard himself addressed by the hunchbacked woman. Her voice was thin, tremulous, eager, but his thoughts were busy and he paid no heed. "Senor! Do you look for something—some one—"

"N-no. Yes—" he answered, abstractedly. "Yes, I am looking for something—some one."

"Something you have lost?"
"Something I have lost!" The question came to him faintly, but it was so in tune with his unhappy mood that it affected him strangely. He found that his eyes were blurring and that an aching lump had risen into his throat. This was the breaking point.

O'Reilly's hearing, too, was going wrong, for he imagined that some one whispered his name. God! This place was not dead—it was alive—terribly alive with memories, voices, a presence unseen yet real. He laid hold of the nearest bush to steady himself, he closed his eyes, only to hear his name spoken louder.

"O'Reilly!"

Constipation Emacipation
No more lazy bowels, yellow complexion, sick headache, indigestion, embarrassing breath, when you use a corrective Dr. King's New Life Pills. They systematize the system and keep the world looking cheerful. 25c.

Johnnie brushed the tears from his lashes. He turned, he listened, but there was no one to be seen, no one, that is, except the dusky cripple, who had straightened herself and was facing him, poised uncertainly. He looked at her a second time, then the world began to spin dizzily and he groped his way toward her. He peered again, closer, for everything before his eyes was swimming.

The woman was thin—little more than a skeleton—and so frail that the wind appeared to sway her, but her face, uplifted to the sun, was glorified. O'Reilly stood rooted, staring at her until she opened her eyes, then he voiced a great cry:

"Rosa!" What more he said he never knew. . . .

He took the misshapen figure into his arms, he rained kisses upon the pinched, discolored face. But Rosa did not respond; her puny strength had flown and she lay inert in his embrace, scarcely breathing.

Dazed, doubting, astounded, it was some time before Johnnie could convince himself of the reality of this moment, and even then words did not come to him, for his mind was in turmoil. Joy, thanksgiving, compassion—a thousand emotions—mingled in a sort of delirium, too wild for coherent thought or speech.

Fear finally brought him to his senses, for he became aware that Rosa had collapsed and that his endearments left her unthrilled. Quickly he bore her to the bench and laid her upon it. After a time she smiled up into his eyes and her words were scarcely more than a murmur:

"God heard my prayers and sent you to me."

"Rosa! You are ill, you are weak—"

Her eyelids fluttered. "I am dying, O'Reilly, I only waited to see you."

"No, no!" In agony he gathered her once more into his arms.

"Oh, yes!" Her bloodless fingers touched his face again, then his thin, worn rags. "You, too, have suffered. How came you to be so poor and hungry, O'Reilly?"

"I'm not poor, I'm rich. See!" He jingled the coins in his pocket. "That's money; money for you, sweetheart. It will buy you food and medicine, it will make you strong again. Rosa, dear, I have looked for you so long, so long—"

His voice broke wretchedly and he bowed his head. "I—I was afraid—"

"I waited as long as I had strength to wait," she told him. "It is too bad you came so late."

Once again she lapsed into the lethargy of utter weakness, whereupon he fell to stroking her hands, calling upon her to come back to him. He was beside himself now; a terrible feeling of impotence and despair overcame him.

Hearing someone speak, he raised his eyes and discovered at his side that figure of want which he had seen digging on the slope below. It was Evangelina. The negress was little more than skin and bones, her eyes were bleared and yellow and sunken, her face had grown apellike, but he recognized her and she him.

"You are the American," she declared. "You are Rosa's man."

"Yes. But what is wrong with her? Look! She is ill—"

"She is often like that. It is the hunger. We have nothing to eat, senor. I, too, am ill—dying; and Asensio— Oh, you don't know how they have made us suffer."

"We must get Rosa home. Where do you live?"

Evangelina turned her death's head toward the city. "Down yonder. But what's the use? There is no food in our house and Rosa is afraid of those wagons. You know—the ones with the corpses. She bade me bring her here to die."

The girl was not wholly unconscious it seemed, for she stirred and murmured faintly: "Those wagons! Don't let them put me in there with the other dead. They pile the bodies high—" A weak shudder convulsed her.

O'Reilly bent lower, and in a strong, determined voice cried: "You are not going to die. I have money for food. Rouse yourself, Rosa, rouse yourself."

"She prayed for you every night," the negress volunteered. "Such faith! Such trust! She never doubted that you would come and find her. Sometimes she cried, but that was because of her brother. Esteban, you know, is dead. Yes, dead, like all the rest."

"Esteban is not dead," O'Reilly asserted. "He is alive. Rosa, do you hear that? Esteban is alive and well. I left him with Gomez in the Orient. I have come to take you to him?"

"Esteban alive? Ha! You are fooling us." Evangelina wagged her head wisely. "We know better than that."

"I tell you he is alive," O'Reilly insisted. He heard Jacket calling to him at that moment, so he hallooed to the boy, then when the latter had arrived, he explained briefly, without allowing Jacket time in which to express his amazement:

"Our search is over; we have found them. But they won't believe that Esteban is alive. Tell them the truth."

"Yes, he is alive. We found him rotting in a prison and we rescued him," Jacket corroborated. He stared curiously at the recumbent figure on the bench, then at O'Reilly. He puckered his lips and gave vent to a low whistle of amazement. "So. This is your pretty one, eh? I— She— Well, I don't think much of her. But then, you are not so handsome yourself, are you?"

Evangelina seemed to be stupid, a trifle touched, perhaps, from suffering, for she laid a skinny claw upon O'Reilly's shoulder and warned him earnestly: "Look out for Cobo. You have heard about him, eh? Well, he is the cause of all our misery. He hunted us from place to place, and it was for him that I put that hump on my back. Understand me, she is straight—straight and pretty enough for any American. Her skin is like milk, too, and her hair—she used to put flowers in it for you, and then we would play games. But you never came. You will make allowances for her looks, will you not?"

"Poor Rosa! You two poor creatures!" O'Reilly choked; he hid his face upon his sweetheart's breast.

Rosa responded; her fingers caressed him and she sighed contentedly.

O'Reilly's ascent of the hill had been slow, but his descent was infinitely slower, for Rosa was so feeble that she could help herself but little and he lacked the strength to carry her far at a time. Finally, however, they reached the wretched hovel where Asensio lay, then leaving her there, Johnnie sped on alone into the city. He returned soon with several small bundles concealed about his person, and with Evangelina's help he set about preparing food.

"Esteban Is Not Dead," O'Reilly Asserted.

"Esteban Is Not Dead," O'Reilly Asserted.

Neither Rosa nor the two negroes had any appetite—their hunger had long since passed the point at which they were conscious of it—and O'Reilly was compelled to force them to eat. When he had given them all that he dared he offered what food was left to Jacket.

The boy moistened his lips and his fingers twitched, but he shook his head. "Oh, I'm not so hungry," he declared, indifferently. "I have a friend in the market place; I will go down there and steal a fish from him."

O'Reilly patted him on the shoulder, saying: "You are a good kid, and you understand, don't you? These sick people need more food than we can buy for them, so we will have to draw our belts tight."

"Of course. Eating is a habit, anyhow, and we men know how to get along without it. I will manage to find something for you and me, for I'm a prodigious thief. I can steal the hair from a man's head when I try." With a nod he set off to find his benefactor's supper.

PINCHED BY "BELLBOY" COP

Farmer Accused of Selling Mortgaged Cows Is Arrested by Disguised Boston Policeman.

Boston.—Disguised as a bellboy, a Boston police inspector arrested Wilbur Lowe, a farmer of Waterbury, Vt., sought here by the constable of that town.

Arrested for selling mortgaged cows, Lowe was locked up in the town ca-house, but escaped. A clue was discovered in a Boston hotel and Police Inspector Manning was put on the job.

The inspector became a "bell hop" at the hotel. His first call after donning the uniform led him to a room occupied by a man who had signed "Walter Lowey" on the register. Walter was thirsty and ordered liquid refreshments, which were duly served by the bellboy Manning. The latter appeared to be so surprised by the large tip he received from the hotel guest that he demanded an explanation. Finally "Lowey" admitted he was none other than the former owner of the mortgaged cows.

NEW WAY TO GET RICH QUICK

Man Charged With Shipping Bibles to Dead Persons C. O. D. and Collecting $5 Thereby.

Seattle, Wash.—A new way to get rich quick is alleged to have been discovered by F. J. Comeau of this city, whose complaint led to the arrest in Tacoma of H. A. Jourdan, who is accused of shipping Bibles to dead persons C. O. D. and then waiting for the cash to roll in from relatives.

Jourdan is alleged to have obtained the names of dead persons in the Northwest from obituary notices in the newspapers. As soon as the names and addresses were obtained Bibles were shipped with a bill for $5 each. In almost every case the Bibles would arrive on the day of the funeral and the relatives would immediately send the $5. The Bibles are said to be worth about 75 cents. To add dignity to the scheme the name of "Rev. Ira Worth," a mythical person, is alleged to have been used.

Comeau says he discovered the scheme when he received a Bible and bill for $5 when his daughter died recently.

Steam Pressing Preserves the Fabric of Woolens

Our method of pressing clothes by steam is such that the fabric of the woolens is preserved, the colors are brightened and the cloth is given a firmness that is found in new materials. It has been proved that proper pressing and cleaning by the right methods adds to the wearing qualities of the cloth. Money that is spent for pressing is well spent. It is economy and at the same time it adds to the appearance of the suit or dress. It is because our methods are so satisfactory that our business is growing by such leaps and bounds. Satisfaction is guaranteed.

Seymour Business College Night School Profit Sharing Plan

An Unparalleled Opportunity

WE are determined to make our night school the biggest, and keep it the best, in Southern Indiana. In order to do this we have decided upon a profit sharing plan for the term beginning March 1 and extending to August 1, which will greatly reduce the regular tuition fee of $25 for each student enrolling. It is the most liberal proposition that has ever been made to those who want a thorough business and commercial training.

How Profits Will Be Divided

We will share our profits with you by allowing one per cent. reduction in the regular tuition fee for each student up to twenty-five who enrolls. If twenty-five or more students enroll in the profit sharing class each will receive a twenty-five per cent. discount in tuition. If twenty enroll each will get a twenty per cent. discount, if eighteen enroll, eighteen per cent. discount will be given each, if fifteen enroll, fifteen per cent. discount, etc.

Special 5 Per Cent.

It is greatly to our advantage to know early how many will be enrolled in this night class so we can make arrangements in advance for class room preparations, so we go one step further and offer an extra five per cent. discount to the first twenty-five students who enroll.

This offer is open until 9 o'clock p. m. March 1, but it is expressly provided that it is withcalled as soon as sixty students are enrolled regardless of the date. This means you must act at once. Be one of the first twenty-five.

HELP YOURSELF ADVANCE.

You have been thinking of preparing yourself for a business and commercial career. You know the limitless advantages it offers. You would be earning larger salary now if you had made a definite decision to train yourself for promotion. Decision is one of the fundamentals of successful business life. You cannot advance unless you make the step forward yourself. Failure to advance results more frequently from lack of decision than from lack of ability to hold a better job. Unless you decide to prepare yourself for larger opportunities you cannot take advantage of them when they come. Don't hold the check rein on yourself any longer. Let yourself move forward as you know you can. Do what your better judgment tells you that you can accomplish. Think this over seriously. If indecision has hampered your progress in the past become a man or woman of decision. You don't know what you can accomplish until you have tried. Successful advancement cannot come unless you make a determination to go after it and train yourself for the better position.

You make the decision to take the forward step and The Seymour Business College will train you.

Another special advantage of this course is that only $10 of the tuition charge is due when the class begins work March 3 and the balance is payable April 1, after the profit sharing dividends are figured up.

You have friends who have been thinking about taking a commercial training course. Bring them to our office. You can help them to get the benefit of the profit sharing dividends by increasing the enrollment and at the same time share in the increased discount yourself.
